

The Quality Management System Course for University Staff

On August 6, 2017, the training course on the quality management system and compliance with the ISO 9001-2015 international standard for its employees was concluded under the supervision of Eng. Emad Al Turki, member of the Organization of the International Organization for Standardization (ISO), which lasted for five days.

The trainees (19 employees) of the university staff received an accredited certificate from the university's Continuing Training and Learning Center.

The course is one of the training courses organized by the University's Continuing Training and Learning Center.

